

TAFT'S DEFENSE OF ROOSEVELT

Secretary Declares That Good Work of Prosecuting "Plutocrats" Should Continue.

BANQUET AT KANSAS CITY

KEYNOTE SPEECH OF THE HEIR APPARENT.

Kansas City, Feb. 10.—Wm. H. Taft, secretary of war, was given a memorable ovation by 15,000 people in Convention hall tonight, when he was the guest of honor and principal speaker at the most elaborate banquet ever attempted in this city, given by the Association of Young Republicans of Missouri and attended by 1,200 persons many of whom, came from Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and distant Missouri cities. The demonstration accorded Secretary Taft when he entered the great banquet hall, and again when he rose to speak, never before surpassed by the welcome given any public man in the history of this city. Each of the 1,200 banquetters paid $2.50 for the privilege of attending, but the balconies of the hall were free to the public and long before the speaking began standing room in the hall was at a premium.

Defense of His Party.

Secretary Taft's speech was a general defense of the Republican party and especially of the policies brought to the fore by the administration of Theodore Roosevelt. In eulogizing Lincoln the speaker said that Lincoln was a party man "as all men must be who expect to leave their individual impression upon the political character of the nation." Speaking of the recent panic and the president's late message to congress, the secretary said:

"The message contains an answer to the charges made that the administration is responsible for the industrial depression and the sharpness and emphasis with which this unfounded attack is met, have heartened the great body of the people as a bugle call to renewed support of the policies of the administration."

Smash the "Plutocracy."

Secretary Taft referred to abuses practiced by corporations and declared that a conviction had seized the people that there were many engaged in the management of corporate wealth who regarded the statutes as dead letters and themselves as privileged classes. "We were passing into a regime of an irresponsible plutocracy," said he. "During the last four years there has been a great moral awakening to this danger among the people and a popular demand that the law breakers—no matter how wealthy or how high or powerful their position—shall be made to suffer. Under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt the Republican party has not flattered in its determination to meet the requirements of this situation and to enact such legislation as may be necessary to bring to a close this period of illegitimate corporate immunity."

HENRY ON DECK FOR REEF CASE

No Progress Made Owing to Myriad of Objections Interposed by the Defense.

San Francisco, Feb. 10.—Counsel for the defense fairly bristled with technical objections this afternoon when the prosecution commenced to make a counter showing to the objections and motions of Abraham Ruef to further proceedings in his trial on the ground that he had never been arraigned because of a clerical error in the copy of the indictment delivered to him. The prosecution encountered the obstructive tactics of Ruef's counsel at every step.

Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney announced when the case was called that he would not be able to make a counter affidavit to the one made last week by Ruef until tomorrow, as he had only arrived in the city today. Assistant District Attorney John O'Garra then read the affidavits of W. E. Tucker, acting shorthand reporter, H. J. Alexander, clerk of the court, and one by him containing extracts of the transcript of Ruef's arraignment on May 27 of last year and setting forth what occurred at that time.

Objections Many and Long. Henry Ach, chief counsel for Ruef, interposed more than a score of lengthy objections to the filing of the counter affidavit. He maintained that Tucker was not the official court reporter and that the record did not show that he had sworn in, hence his affidavit could not be received by the court. Among other objections were: That the affidavits were not properly made out; that Ruef acted as his own attorney in the alleged arraignment proceedings and was not asked by the court whether he had counsel or desired counsel; that it did not appear from the record that copies of the indictments were delivered to Ruef; that the record showed that the clerk read "part" of an indictment and not all of it.

Ach made a motion asking that the entire record be produced in this hearing of the proceedings in Ruef's case on indictment No. 823 on which he is to be tried first.

Judge Lawlor announced that he would reserve his rulings on the admission of the affidavits and Ach's objections to them.

Address of Hadley.

Herbert S. Hadley, attorney general of Missouri, responded to the toast, "We Have Put Our Hand to the Plow."

Mr. Hadley said that in any great crisis the American history there had been found men equal to the demand of the occasion and the necessities of the work.

"William McKinley," he said, "gave us a vision of prosperity, an era of good feeling and the successful prosecution of two wars. But when in the mad rush for wealth and gain within standards of success were established in our commercial life, when men reckoned only with the dollar and not with the means; when illegality, cunning, fraud and force were regarded as justifiable measures to succeed; when, in short, we were in danger of becoming a people of barter and of sale, then it was that there came Theodore Roosevelt, before in the history of the world has one man so impressed the force of his personality and the force of his principles upon the life and thought of a great people as has this modern apostle and prophet of righteousness."

Taft the Leader.

"And now that he has blazed the pathway along which we must travel, we need a leader who will continue his work because his heart is in the work; when it is popular to be wrong; who is brave enough and strong enough to refuse to make terms with politicians, even to be president; who thinks before he makes a decision and who knows the difference between a principle and a precedent, a leader who knows the rights of labor and capital and the wrongs of each; who will add the conservatism and experience of the judge to the executive; who realizes that our trade and commerce should be large, but who also realizes that our trade and commerce must be honest and lawful; who has the courage to stand for the direct election of the president; who has the courage to stand for the public work of the country and negotiate with fairness and satisfaction treaties affecting the lives and happiness of millions of people; who knows, as no other man knows, the conditions and necessities of our dependent races and who has a heart that feels for their deficiencies and their hopes. One, in short, who is able and willing to successfully carry forward the great work and destiny of the Republican party."

Faith of Missourians.

"Such a man and such a leader the Republicans of Missouri believe, and, believing, they should not hesitate to say so, the American people will find in the trusted friend of William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt the secretary of war and also the secretary of peace, our honored guest tonight, William H. Taft of Ohio."

Mr. Hadley declared that with the exception of 1864, no before had there been greater need that the Republican party should stand firm and true to its principles and its policies than the present.

"For the present and the future," said he, "a continuation of the principles and policies of the Roosevelt administration is necessary, not only for party success, but also for the maintenance of our institutions and the protection of the liberties of the American people."

He concluded: "We have started in on this work, and we must not falter. We have started the road and we must not stop. We have put our hands to the plow and we must not turn back, for unto us it is declared in holy writ, 'no man, having put his hand to the plow and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God.'"

DURING SLEEP

Nature Repairs the Human Engine.

The activities of the day cause more or less waste of tissues in the human engine, which is repaired at night during sleep. The man or woman who can sleep well at night, is sure of the necessary repairs, things being right, to make each day a time of usefulness and living a real joy.

But let insomnia get hold of you, and the struggle begins, of trying to work with a machine out of repair. A Nebraska woman's experience with coffee as a producer of insomnia is interesting. She says:

"I used to be a coffee drinker and was so nervous I could not sleep at night before about 12 o'clock, unless I would take some medicine. I was under the doctor's care for about 5 years and my weight got down to 82 lbs. The doctor said I would have to quit drinking coffee. Then my father got me to try Postum, which he said had done wonders for him. I am past 43 and before I quit drinking coffee, my heart would jump and flutter at times, miss a beat, then beat so fast I could hardly breathe in enough air and I would get smothered."

"My tongue would get so stiff I could not talk and I could not hold a glass to drink from. Since I have been drinking Postum, in place of coffee, I can sleep sound any time I lie down, and I feel I owe everything to Postum Food Coffee. I now weigh 120 lbs. and am well."

SENIOR FRANCO AT MARSEILLES

Former Premier of Portugal Says He Never Used Power for Personal Welfare.

Bordeaux, France, Feb. 10.—Senior Franco, the ex-premier of Portugal, with his wife and son, left this city by train at 7:43 this morning in the direction of Cette or Marseilles. The departure was sudden, the hotel authorities being notified of the step at the last moment. It became known later that Senior Franco bought tickets and had his baggage registered for Marseilles.

The train upon which Senior Franco is traveling is due at Marseilles a few minutes before midnight. It was twenty minutes before the train time when Senior Franco unexpectedly requested his bill from the hotel manager. The time was so short that the hotel porters had to work with the greatest rapidity in order to get the many pieces of baggage of the Franco party over to the station in time.

Senior Franco appeared rested from his stay here. He is less depressed, and he walked over to the train at a quick step.

He was accompanied by French detectives. There were no people at the railroad station to see him off.

Marseilles, Feb. 10.—When Senior Franco and his family arrived here tonight a big crowd had assembled at the railway station. The former premier and his party were flanked by police and hurriedly entered the Tour de France hotel, going at once to their apartments. Senior Franco reiterated in an interview that he believed he had done his duty as a Portuguese.

"I formerly in power for my own personal welfare," he said, "but always for the good of my unfortunate sovereign and country."

He would not disclose his ultimate destination, but it is generally believed here that he is going to Italy.

SHOT FIRED BY ACCIDENT

Woman Known as "Queenie" Killed in New York Street Car During a Scuffle.

New York, Feb. 10.—A night spent in hilarity by three women and three men ended early today in a tragedy when one of the women known as "Queenie," but who is said to be Mrs. Annie Conning of Delaware, was shot to death in a trolley car on Second avenue. Mabel Couzle confessed this afternoon that a shot accidentally fired from a pistol in her muff killed "Queenie," but the police authorities are of the opinion that an element of mystery still hangs over the case in the disappearance of the men of the party, who have not been seen since the shooting took place. The Couzle woman has been held without bail to await the coroner's inquest, and Rose McGuire, who also was in the party, is being detained as a witness.

The story told by the Couzle woman was a plausible one. The women and men had met at a fashionable resort, where they drank for a while and afterward went to Chinatown. One of the men, who had been drinking, had a revolver which he asked the Couzle woman to keep for him. She put it in her muff, and the party started up town on a trolley car. All were hilarious and laughed and joked with several of the passengers. An Italian resident of the neighborhood made to him and a scuffle ensued. In the midst of the scuffle the revolver exploded and "Queenie" fell dead. The revolver dropped to the floor and one of the men picked it up and with his two companions fled.

GOOD SHOWING AT PRESENT

Secretary Metcalf Reports on Number of Naval Officers Ashore and Afloat.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Responding to a request by the president, Secretary Metcalf today made to the senate a statement showing the number of officers of the navy ashore and afloat. The purpose of the statement is to refute the charge that has been made to the senate committee on naval affairs, that nearly one-half of the officers have been enmeshed by "social pull" and are enjoying "soft berths" in Washington and at the various navy yards. Figures are given for July 1, 1905, and January 1, 1908. In 1905 the line officers of the navy numbered 1,109 and staff officers 543, or a total of 1,652. Of this number there were 741 line officers and 282 staff officers afloat, or a total of 1,023. In 1908 the line officers numbered 1,279 and the staff officers 638, a total of 1,917. Of this number 914 line officers and 234 staff officers, or a total of 1,148 officers, are afloat. The percentage of the line afloat in 1905 was 68.9 and in 1908, 73.4; of the staff, 49.1 in 1905, and 36.6 in 1908. There are now on duty in Washington 82 line officers on the active list and four on the retired list, seventy-five staff officers of the active list, and three of the retired list. There is a less percentage ashore than there has been for ten years.

DEPEW BREAKS SILENCE.

Smirched New York Senator Eulogizes J. P. Morgan.

Washington, Feb. 10.—Senator Dewey today replied to a recent charge made in the senate by Senator Culberson of Texas that during the recent panic the secretary of the treasury favored New York City in depositing public money in national depositories.

The danger that was so great, he said, was avoided by the wise action of the secretary of the treasury, assisted by that "phenomenal genius, Pierpont Morgan, who, associating himself with the bankers of New York, provided the means by which the banks could be saved."

At the time of this utterance, Mr. Morgan occupied a seat in the private gallery of senators, and was a careful listener to all that was said.
